

But the bleasts of Remorse all my danger revealed,
And I saw but the fetters the flowers had concealed.

IV.

Oh, terrible doom! in thick darkness to grope,
While Memory usurps the dominion of Hope,
And, while sadly recalling each long-vanish'd scene,
To the ruin'd one whispers—"What might you have been?"
By her moonlight descried the pale ghosts of the past
Stalk in gloomy procession along the dim waste.
Love, with meek, down-cast eyes robb'd of radiance and spell;
Hope, which yet seems to linger, while whispering "Farewell!"
Wan shadows of Beauty, and Honor, and Truth,
(Whose substance I priz'd in the day-dreams of Youth,)
With a train of lost years, awful spectres, glide on,
Repeating, "Time's past, and redemption is gone!"

V.

But no! Though Life's morning and noon-tide were dark,
'Mid the shades of its evening a Pharos I mark;
For the Angel of Temperance brightens my gloom,
And pure draughts from her chalice reverse my sad doom.
Speed, speed thy bright pinions o'er land and o'er sea,
Till the list'ning captive of Drink shall go free!
Flow on, Earth's pure fountains, fair type of the stream
That reflect Heaven's paradisaical beams!
No more will I leave ye to quaff from the bowl
That tortures the body and ruins the soul—
For 'tis over, 'tis over! I've broken the chain
Which bound, but which never can bind me again.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Abcesses, Erysipelas, Piles.—Unvarying success attends all who treat these diseases according to the simple printed directions wrapped round each pot and box of Holloway's medicines. They are invaluable to the young and timid, whose bashfulness sometimes enlarges life. A little attention, moderate perseverance, and trifling expence, will enable the most diffident to conduct any case to a happy issue without exposing secret infirmities to any one. The Ointment arrests the spreading inflammation, restrains the excited vessels, cools the overheated skin, alleviates throbbing and smarting pains, and gives great ease. The printed directions for the use of the Ointment also clearly point out when and how Holloway's Pills are to be taken, that their purifying and regulating powers may assist by adjusting and strengthening the constitution.

Died.

On Thursday evening August 31st, Mr. Thomas Hartery Farmer late of Waterford Ireland aged 56 years leaving a wife and twelve children to mourn their irreparable loss.

Notice to Ship-Masters.

THE MERCHANTS of St. John's, finding the errors and rates of Chronometers given here, often egregiously wrong, furnished the Subscriber with the means of finding and keeping Time with precision, in order to afford Ship-Masters these errors and rates with accuracy. This accuracy is certified by the following:—

"This is to certify that the Gun at the Fort, (fired by a Time ball dropped by Mr. Campbell) indicates the instant of mean noon very correctly,* as I have taken several opportunities of proving it during our visits to St. John's.

J. J. P. HITCHFIELD, Master.

Oct. 11, 1863. H. M. S. Vesuvius.

As the earth revolves on its axis always in equal intervals of time, viz, 24 sidereal hours, equal to 23h. 56m. 41s, mean Solar Time; then, whatever Time a Chronometer shows at the instant when any Star is observed at any meridian, it should show this interval of Time when the same Star is observed at the same Meridian again; if it shows more 'tis gaining, if less, losing. This method requires no calculation, it is free from instrumental error, and also from errors arising from change of parallax, semi-diameter, declination, right ascension, &c., to which the sun, moon and planets are all subject. Thus are the rates of Chronometers determined with absolute certainty.

JAMES CAMPBELL,

Teacher of Navigation,

Nautical Academy,

Parties in Conception Bay can have their Chronometers rated by telegrams from St. John's.

SHIP-MASTER.

What do you want to know at sea?

The sun's true latitude at true mid-day.

And the Time at Greenwich and the Time at Ship.

And then to know my compass needle's dip, Which rectified, then find its variation, And on each course its exact deviation, All these if known, my course wherever bound.

And distance too, are easy to be found.

Then to know these, what better can you do. Than come to me with a doubloon or two, Here you'll be taught whatever you want to know,

And for each branch, you'll find the terms quite low, For bear in mind, your worth will be much greater.

When known to be a first-rate Navigator, Your quadrant is the sign of my abode, At 100 on Military Road

*The Gun was then fired with the precision necessary to rate Chronometers, but it is not fired so now.
